• Why You Might Need a Name Change on Southwest Airlines Southwest recognizes that name errors happen—and addressing them quickly can save you from complications at check-in or security. You should consider correcting your name on a Southwest reservation if any of the following apply:

- Minor spelling mistakes (e.g., "Jhon"  $\rightarrow$  "John")
- Missing or incorrect middle name or initial
- Name inversion or formatting issues
- Legal name change due to marriage, divorce, or other court order
- Booking under a nickname instead of your legal name

If you fit any of these scenarios, don't delay. The Southwest Airlines name correction policy is flexible but time-sensitive.

Call+1 866 (673)-(3161) or +1-888-(217)-(5158) now to speak with an agent and get your name corrected before it impacts your travel.
